Dear Sir,

I am much obliged to you for the little Poem you had the goodness to send me, in which I think there is the best kind of merit a thing of that kind is capable of, I mean the merit of simplicity; however, if I am not mistaken, the last Couplet is by no means adequate to the Poem - It wants that Brignancy of Thought and Expression which a short Poem ever requires in the Conclusion.

- I dare say you can easily alter it, and it is Pity for the sake of the Poem, that it should not be able to do so.

I congratulate you on our very ingenious Friend Mr. Galt's Recovery from the insculated small Pox &c am, Dear Sir,

very much your friend
Wm. Galt
