Since the first issue of its own postage stamps in 1912, stamps have been one of the most important image-bearers of the principality. For many years, they were even a significant source of revenue for the national treasury. Even in today's networked age, the stamp series with their attractively designed and innovative collectors' items, issued four times each year, enthuse philatelists all over the world. Additional information is available at www.philatelie.li.
